

NOVEL CASE

Heard in Licking County Court on Monday Afternoon.

Young and Talented Newark Girl Seeks Separation From Youth Whom She Married Secretly in Covington, Ky., Christmas Day.

The case of May Herring against Clifford Herring was heard on the testimony by Judge Seward Monday afternoon, and the case will be argued and submitted later in the week.

The case is brought by plaintiff to annul and set aside a marriage contract entered into on December 25, 1902, between plaintiff and defendant, and is the first one of the kind, or at least presents features that are unique and novel in the history of Licking county jurisprudence.

The plaintiff is a young woman, 19 years of age, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cherrington, and lives with her parents in the Avalon building on West Main street.

She is a young woman of culture and refinement, and her parents have always surrounded her with every luxury that would tend to her enjoyment and satisfy her artistic tastes, which were particularly developed along musical lines.

While attending school at Cincinnati, she had for a school mate Clifford Herring, a lad about her own age, and for seven years they knew each other and were more or less companions, but were never considered lovers.

Last June the Cherringtons moved to Newark and May lived with her parents, in every way contented. She heard occasionally from Herring, but the correspondence was not of that nature that passes between lovers.

Last December, a week before Christmas, she visited in Cincinnati, her mother going there on December 24. Herring of course, came to see Miss Cherrington, and on Christmas night she went with him to the performance of Floradora at the Grand Opera House in that city. The young man proposed marriage and was accepted, and the two boarded a car, went to Covington, Ky., and were married by a Baptist preacher. They returned and took their seats in the theatre and stayed until the end of the performance. Another young man, and a girl friend of Miss Cherrington, were in the party, and went with them to Covington and witnessed the marriage ceremony. It was agreed to keep the marriage a secret until the young woman's parents consent was gained to their union.

To this end the bride went home with her girl friend and stayed all night, while Herring went to his home. The next day the girl's mother saw the affair in the papers, and confronted her daughter with it, the latter acknowledging the truth of the report and expressing regret that she had done so hasty an act.

The following Monday Mrs. Cherrington and her daughter both came to Newark, Herring being at the depot to bid them good bye. The young woman has never lived with Herring as his wife, and the marriage contract being made in Kentucky, neither party is legally of age until they are 21 years old. Mrs. Herring's attorneys, Smythe & Smythe, contend that the contract of marriage is null and void and not binding and asks for a decree declaring it so to be.

Herring being only 19 years old is not capable of being sued in Ohio and Frank A. Bolton is guardian ad litem for the defendant as well as his attorney. He filed an answer on April 23, denying all the allegations of plaintiff's petition, which was filed last February, thus bringing the case to an issue before the court.

WORK

On All Building Contracts At New Orleans Stopped

New Orleans, April 28—Work has ceased on every structure in the course of erection in New Orleans.

This was decided unanimously by a special meeting of the master builders' association and was caused by what the builders deemed unreasonable demands of the union brick layers. The construction of more than 40 buildings is at a stand still. The brick layers have been on a strike since April 1. They demanded of the builders 62 1/2 cents an hour for ordinary building work and 75 cents per hour for all underground excavation work.

REPORT

That Empress Will Not go to Rome With Emperor Has Aroused the Catholics' Resentment.

Berlin, April 28—The report that the Empress of Germany has refused to go to Rome with the Emperor when the latter will visit King Victor Emanuel, because she would have to accompany her husband, when he would go to the Vatican, has roused the resentment of German Catholics. Their organ, the Germania, today recalls that the Empress visited the Pope in 1892 and adds that although the Emperor is a Protestant he recognizes the equal rights of the Catholic church and desires to avoid doctrinal feuds.

KAISER

Among the Prophets—Thousands Visit the Cathedral.

Berlin, April 28—The decorative work at the entrance to the Cathedral at Metz was unveiled today. The new entrance consists of a combination of pointed arches which contain 554 images of Biblical personages. Life sized figures of the prophets decorate the front halls. Between Elijah and Elisha is the figure of Kaiser Wilhelm II. The head is covered with cloth and a prophet's mantle is thrown over his shoulder. The forefinger of the right hand points to a roll of the commandments which is held in the left. Thousands of persons are journeying to the Cathedral to see the emperor among the prophets.

Dublin Insane.

New York, April 28—Philip Doblin, who gave sensational testimony at the Congressional investigation last winter of bribery charges made by Representative Lester of this city, was yesterday committed to the Bellevue Hospital for examination as to his sanity. Doblin created a scene at a hotel yesterday by refusing to pay for a meal. He was locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct and his wife told the court she believed he was mentally unsound. His brother made affidavit that the prisoner was unable to recognize any member of his family, and talked incoherently.

After Dr. Gregory, in charge of the insane pavilion at Bellevue, had examined Doblin he said that he was satisfied Doblin was suffering from incipient paresis and that he must have been in that condition at the time of the submarine boat inquiry at Washington. Doblin will be held five days before it is determined whether or not to commit him as insane.

COUNT

Says It Was Accidental But Public Thinks Otherwise.

Seville, Spain, April 28—The master of horse, Count Escosura, the morganatic husband of the Queen Mother of Spain, was found in his bed this morning suffering from a dangerous pistol wound. The Count says his shooting was accidental, though it is generally believed that he attempted suicide owing to the fact that during the Queen mother's recent visit to Vienna Alfonso had disgraced him by transferring him from Madrid to Seville.

The Luetfert Case.

Chicago, March 28—Mrs. Louise Luetfert, whose identity for six years has been as much a mystery as the exact whereabouts of Charles Ross or Willie Tascott, has been found again. Attorney J. C. Sims, of Spartansburg, S. C., has written to Lawrence Harmon, who was one of Adolph Luetfert's lawyers during the sausage maker's last murder trial. Mr. Sims says that Mrs. Luetfert is living in a turpentine forest near Spartansburg, and that she would have revealed her whereabouts sooner if a gang of men that had kidnapped her had not held her for $15,000 ransom.

IN JUNE

Ruth Hanna Will Be Married at Thomasville, Ga.—Cabinet Officers Will Attend.

Atlanta, Ga., April 28—The wedding of Miss Ruth Hanna, the youngest daughter of Senator Marcus A. Hanna, will take place at Thomasville, Ga., on June 9.

This information was received in a letter from General H. V. Boynton, at Chattanooga, to the general, who is stationed at Chattanooga and in the course of the letter received today stated that Secretary of War Root, Adjutant General C. Corbin, Cabinet officers and government officials would pass through Atlanta early in June to attend the wedding. Senator Hanna owns a magnificent home in Thomasville, and it is on this account that it has been decided to have the wedding at the Georgia winter resort. It was announced some time ago that Miss Hanna was to be married at an early date, but the time and place have not heretofore been given out.

Roberts, state clerk of the Pennsylvania General Assembly, announced today that two-thirds of the presbyteries had voted in favor of revising the confession of faith and of the declaratory statement elucidating chapters 3 and 10 of the confession. The subject will be finally disposed of by the General Assembly, which meets in Los Angeles, Cal., next month.

The officials at the Vatican are busy arranging the details of the reception to be accorded King Edward when he visits the Pope. King Edward is delighted with his visit here and has expressed a desire to make a tour of other countries, including the United States.

King Edward and Victor walked to Borghese Palace and the gardens. At the palace they were received by war veterans and before leaving both their majesties placed flowers on the tombs of King Humbert and Victor Emanuel. King Edward delivered a short address to the veterans and then left them.

WORLD'S FAIR

Special Trains Left Washington for St. Louis Today

With Two Days Intervening Before the Dedication Exercises Begin—The City of St. Louis is Crowded With Visitors.

Washington, April 28—"Everybody" left Washington for St. Louis today. It was get-away day at the capital, with four special trains to help along the confusion. The first of the Baltimore and Ohio specials pulled out at 11 a. m. It is known as the "Marine Band" special and will drop that distinguished body of musicians at the World's Fair city at 1:35 tomorrow afternoon. On the train with the marines is a committee of Potomac lodge, F. & A. M., having in charge the famous Washington gavel, which is to be used in dedicating the Missouri building on the exposition grounds. They are accompanied also by the women's contingent of press writers.

Next to leave, just a few minutes after this train, was the correspondents' special carrying 100 or more Washington newspaper men. J. Harry Maddy, assistant to the general manager of the B. & O., is in charge, and P. V. Degraw, eastern press representative of the exposition, is the genial host. The largest gathering of diplomats ever seen in the west will leave at 3 p. m. They will travel in a special train composed of compartment cars only, under the escort of A. V. Cockrell, representing the fair, and assistant Secretary Pierce and Chief Clerk Michael, representing the state department. Several members of the cabinet, Admiral Dewey and General Young will also accompany the foreign representatives. Every embassy or legation represented at Washington will have a representative on the train. A number of those in whom the public has the highest interest was compelled to remain behind, however, Sir Michael Herbert, British Ambassador, and Baron Speck von Sternberg, Germany's envoy stay here because of the delicacy of the Venezuelan negotiations still pending which requires their personal attention. Minister Bown representing Venezuela was not invited, his presence here at this time not being construed as giving him the rank of a diplomatic representative of a foreign power. Baron Von Sternberg it was suggested, did not care to go because his credentials as ambassador to this country have not yet been received, a neglect which places him in the embarrassing position of merely an envoy on an extraordinary mission, in which capacity he would be ranked by every ambassador and minister in the party as himself ranking only the charge d'affaires. It is denied however, that this had anything to do with it, and that the baron would have gone if business had not detained him. He is represented on the train by the first Secretary Baron Von Dem Busche Haddeshausen. Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, remains behind on his physician's advice. He is suffering from lumbago. The Manchurian situation also might require his presence. Later in the day the special that carries ex-President Cleveland and his party to St. Louis, will pass through the city. The government board of the exposition, composed of officials of every department of the government service will leave over the Chesapeake and Ohio late this afternoon.

ST. LOUIS NOW CROWDED.

St. Louis, Mo., April 28—With two days intervening before the world's fair dedication exercises begin, the city already is crowded with visitors, and each incoming train is bringing in thousands more.

The hotels were taxed to their utmost capacity this morning. Many of the visitors who sought quarters at

ADAMS COLLAPSED.

Millionaire "Policy King" Begged Like a Child for Freedom When Taken to Sing Sing Prison. Had to be Forced.

New York, April 28—"Al" Adams, policy king director of two banking institutions, owner of a brewery, silent partner in hundreds of saloons in New York City and reputed millionaire, is now known as "No. 129" in Sing Sing prison. He slept last night in the cell that will be his home for one year unless the appellate courts reverse the judgment of conviction found against him and grant him a new trial.

Thirty years ago Adams left the employ of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railway, when he was recognized as a first class brakeman, to become a policy runner. He soon became proprietor of a policy shop and as his fortune grew he started new shops and reinvested his accumulations. He operated throughout the entire city of New York and was recognized as the head of the policy game. It was estimated at the time of his arrest that his income from this source at one time was between $500,000 and $600,000. Captain F. Norton Goddard, president of the Anti-Policy Society, speaking of the conviction of Adams, said: "It has had, I believe, a broad value to the community outside of its importance to the anti-policy cause. Policy is not gambling, but stealing, and its victims are the very poor and ignorant. Adams' conviction will greatly help to stamp out this evil."

New York, April 28—"Al" Adams, the millionaire "Policy King" and prisoner in the Sing Sing prison, was taken from the TIMELY PRESERVATION.

The original of the declaration of independence is no longer to be on public view. The authorities at Washington have resolved to lock it up in a safe proof against fire and burglars. Concealment of the historic manuscript comes none too soon. The document has been crumbling so rapidly that if not protected against atmospheric damp nothing but ashes will remain of it in a few years. The American Academy of Sciences in session at the capital found the text still legible, but only two of the signatures can be made out.

As Secretary Vignaud of the American embassy at Washington has formulated a new law in the making and interpretation of history, the action of the National Academy of Sciences is opportune. Vignaud cannot find the Toscanelli letter from which Columbus is believed to have obtained valuable cosmographic information. Lacking the letter in the original, Mr. Vignaud contends that it never existed. The long current Toscanelli letter he pronounces a forgery, his pronouncement implying a reflection upon the integrity of the discoverer of the new world.

We should be ill off were the original of the declaration of independence to disappear. A future Vignaud would assert that such a document was never written by its reputed author, was never signed by the men whose names are appended to it in current books, and that the political creed it embodies was not held by the American people. At that point the future Vignaud would have corroborative evidence lacking as to Christopher Columbus. The conduct of several Republican administrations toward the people of the Philippines would be cited to prove that the principles boasted of in printed copies of the declaration were continuously nullified by the United States in the archipelago under its flag.

We should rejoice, therefore, that the original of that remarkable composition is to be safeguarded against decay in its perishable substance, and we should have still more reason to rejoice should the next federal administration discover whether the adopted Americans of the Philippines are subjects or citizens and whether as either they have an inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

As could have been predicted, our British friends are in favor of evicting Russia from Manchuria, always provided, however, that Japan or the United States shall serve the writ of ejectment. The nation which goes into partnership with Britain may or may not get a fair share of the profits of the enterprise, but it is certain to have all sorts of chances to win glory by fighting the battles of the coalition.

A treasorable statistician figures out that the Philippines have cost the lives of 5,000 soldiers and $200,000,000 during the last five years and have been brought us nothing but trouble. Well, even so—hasn't the flag "stayed put" and isn't that the chief end of man?

Tariff Reform by Its Friends.
(Albany Argus.)

The plan for letting the tariff be reformed by its "friends"—which means by the beneficiaries of governmental copartnership and special privilege—is about as reasonable as it would be to appoint a committee of foxes to devise plans for the relief and greater security of the geese.

"Three Sheets in the Wind."
"What was the origin of the phrase for drunkenness, 'three sheets in the wind'?" a landsman asked a sailor the other day. "Well," said the sailor, "I'll explain that matter to you. The two lower corners of a ship's sail are held taut by two ropes, one called a tack and another called a sheet. The tack is always kept very tight, but the sheet is loosened according to the wind, and the looser the sheet is the more freely the sail swings. If the sail is quite free, its sheet is said to be 'in the wind.' Now, suppose that all three of a ship's sails were quite free. They would then fly about very crazily, and the ship would wobble. The course of the ship would be a zigzag one, and the reason for this would be that she had 'three sheets in the wind.' That, I guess, is why a man, when he ziggags in his course, is said to be 'three sheets in the wind' also."—Philadelphia Record.

A disordered stomach may cause no end of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are painless and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition, and for this purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by all druggists.

Bread Soup.
One way of disposing of odd scraps of dry bread is to make a soup with them. This can be made with quite weak stock; the second boiling of the bones will do. Cut up some carrots and onions and boil them with the stock, and when the vegetables are nearly done break up the dry bread into it and boil all well together, adding a little burnt onion or sugar to color it. This bread soup will be found to be both economical and nourishing.

To get your spring in perfect harmony with spring time, you need a spring tonic like Haze's Cordial of Cod Liver Oil. It cleanses the blood of winter's accumulated wastes; makes better blood; better appetite; better flesh; better vitality. Agrees with weakest stomachs.

ANSWERING AN AD.
I had just hung out my shingle, and not a client had come near me. I was over head and ears in debt and, what was worse, saw no way of being any better off.
That was the way matters stood one dark November morning when, not quite certain whether it was the better plan to breakfast off luncheon or to hire a hawk organ and go out by the day, I took up the newspaper in a sort of cool desperation.
"Wanted: A baby to adopt."
I wasn't a baby and therefore probably wouldn't suit, though I was quite sure that no screaming wretch with pink nose and white long clothes ever needed adoption more than I did.
"Wanted—A girl for general housework."
There again my six feet and carrot beard stood in the way.
As I listlessly glanced over the teeming columns, mentally commenting on them after this fashion, my eye suddenly became arrested by a paragraph just below:
"A widow of means would like a companion for life. Wealth no object. Good looks and polished manners indispensable."
There was certainly no reason, I thought, why I should not answer to the latter clause of the advertisement.
"Now, here's a curious coincidence," quoth I to myself, hurriedly emptying a cologne bottle over my hair to hide the predominant smell of tobacco smoke. "A widow wants a husband, and I want money. Dozens of fellows marry for money every day of their lives, and I do not see why I may not do the same thing."
I donned my best lilac necktie, tied carefully so as to hide the ragged spots, brushed my coat neatly and drew on a pair of not very much soiled kid gloves. Then catching up the newspaper I hastily sought the eventful paragraph, jotted down the address and trotted off in high spirits.
A trim looking maid-servant answered the bell as I gave it a modest little jerk.
"Is your mistress at home?"
"Don't know, sir. What may be your business?"
"I—I called in answer to the advertisement."
After a moment's absence, during which I stood sheepishly in the hall, balancing first on one heel, then on the other, the girl returned and ushered me into an elegant little morning room.
In a luxuriously easy chair beside a writing table sat a lady of about thirty, whose fresh, pretty face was charmingly set off by a scarlet cashmere morning wrapper.
I came to the conclusion that this widow was a most fascinating little creature.
She didn't ask me to be seated—perhaps she was a little timid about it—so I stood with my hat in my hand while she referred languidly to a little written memorandum on the table. Perhaps—and my heart sank into my boots at the idea—she had had more applications than one for the vacant post.
"You are come in answer to my advertisement of this morning?" she asked.
I nodded, and the blood mounted to the very roots of my hair.
"What can you do?" she asked abruptly.
I hazarded the bold answer of:
"Everything, madam."
"I suppose you can bring me good references?"
"I assure you, ma'am, they shall be entirely satisfactory."
"Where was your last place?"
Here was a posing question. I looked up at the ceiling, down at the floor, but no inspiration came to my aid as I stammered out, with my face aflame and my eyes riveted on the lining of my hat:
"I—to tell the truth, ma'am—I never have been married."
"Married?" she repeated. "Oh, that's no objection. I mean where did you live last?"
I mentioned the street and number where my tin sign hung out. She noted it down in a fairy notebook.
"I shall want you," she remarked, playing abstractedly with her little gold pencil, "to work in my garden occasionally and to drive my horses when the coachman is not on hand. How much do you expect a month? I allowed my last $10 a month and his clothing."
My hair stood on end. Ten dollars a month! No wonder my predecessor had walked out of the world. Ten dollars wouldn't keep me in cigars, to say nothing of kid gloves and newspapers.
"Madam," quoth I meekly, "is not that rather a limited income to allow a husband in society?"
"A husband? Who's talking about husbands?" ejaculated the lady, dropping her pencil and sitting up erect in her chair.
"I beg your pardon, ma'am. Did you not advertise for a husband?"
"I advertised for a footman!"
"There is some mistake, ma'am. Are you not the widow of means who?"
"I am not a widow, and if you do not instantly leave the house I will prove the fact by calling my husband to pitch you out of the window!"
I went back to the shadow of the tin sign a wiser and better man.
I'm married now, as you know, to a pretty little woman as ever bore No. 3 coupons, but I courted her in the old fashioned way, and the money she pays the housekeeping bills with is what I earn in an honest, aboveboard style.

Diplomacy.
"Diplomacy is a curious game," said one statesman.
"It is," answered the other. "It is one in which the most satisfactory results are achieved when both sides can go home and claim a victory."—Washington Star.

DIRECTORY

Of New Independent Telephone Exchange is Just Out—Subscribers Please Call by Number.

The Newark Independent Telephone Company today distributed among its subscribers copies of the new directory just issued. The book of 35 pages consists of an alphabetical and also classified list of subscribers (business directory) together with a list of subscribers in the exchanges at Granville, Johnstown (including rural lines), Croton and the lines running to farmers' residences near Croton.

The book has a list of the Licking county toll stations, but does not contain a list of the subscribers at the new exchanges which are now in operation at Utica and Pataskala. One may call a great many residents of either of these towns direct without having the party go to a toll station.

The new directory contains a page of suggestions to subscribers which Manager Hollander hopes every subscriber will read.

The last three pages of the book give a list of subscribers numerically arranged so that one may quickly see who has 'phone 738 or any other number.

All subscribers are urged to call by number. It is not reasonable to ask the operators to keep the numbers of about 1100 subscribers in their minds and unless one calls by number there is more or less delay in getting the party as the girl 'has to look in the book and see.'

Manager Hollander asks subscribers to promptly report and inattention and to report as soon as possible any trouble on the line. Trouble men will be sent to put a line that is out of service in order at once.

Everybody is requested to call by number only.

As new subscribers are being connected daily a supplementary list will be printed in 30 days for insertion in the directory.

The number of subscribers to the independent exchanges at Newark, Granville, Pataskala, Utica, Johnstown and Croton, all in Licking county, is today 1594. Daily additions are being made in Newark, Utica and Pataskala.

A few years ago when the local independent company was organized there were 160 telephones in Newark and no toll lines over the county, and no exchange in any Licking county town.

DR. GRANSTAFF

Says America is Going to Hell for Want of Sleep—Sermon Preached About Grumblers.

Dr. Frank Granstaff of the First Presbyterian church, at Marion, Ohio, formerly of Newark, was heard by a very large audience in his Sunday evening discourse, and his sermon was one containing many points of interest. The Marion Star says: The doctor had delivered a sermon preceding this one, the theme of which was "Fault-finders." On that occasion the character of the faultfinder was carefully analyzed, and at this time the speaker took up the grumbler, whom he termed the twin brother of the faultfinder, for consideration.

Dr. Granstaff said the grumbler was not a chronic faultfinder. He termed the faultfinder a critic run to seed and the grumbler a critic gone to rot. Continuing, he stated that America was going to the devil for the want of sleep, and that there was a rapid increase in the ranks of the grumblers. Sleep composes the nerves of the grumbler and prepares him for doing something while doing something is a sure cure for grumbling.

Dr. Granstaff gave his idea of hell as a place occupied solely by grumblers, while heaven, on the contrary, contains no grumblers. He urged all to join in making earth more like heaven and less like hell by getting to work and quitting grumbling.

The Derivation of Gibraltar.

In 711 A. D. the Arabs crossed the narrow strait of Gibraltar and established themselves around the famous rock whose name is derived from their leader. Field Marshal Tarik was one of the leaders of the Arab invasion of Spain. Gebel is an Arabic word meaning mountain. The great rock, which was by far the most conspicuous object along the shores of the strait, was accordingly named after Tarik. Gebel el Tarik, or the mountain of Tarik. It is easy to see how this name became changed into its present form, Gibraltar.

An Observing Child.

One man in New York had social aspirations which somewhat warped his admiration of his homespun father. The father actually sometimes relapses into the barbarism of eating with his knife. But the man has a little son whose eyes seek and find out the truth. The other day the little boy licked some mashed potatoes from his knife, and his mother chided him. "Safely, dear," she said, "only stupid people eat with their knives." "How can you say that, mamma?" cried the child. "Grandpa eats with his knife. And he made all our money."

Young Widow is Accused—Grand Jury Indicts Mrs. Bonaparte Dixon for Murder.

Evansville, Ind., April 28—An indictment has been returned against the widow of Bonaparte Dixon of Adaverville, Perry county, charging her with murder in the first degree. She is charged with causing the death of her husband by administering poison.

About four weeks ago Dixon and his young wife are alleged to have gone to the drugstore at Adaverville, where they bought arsenic. The drug-gist, it is alleged was told that it was wanted to kill rats. This was on a Monday and on the Wednesday following Dixon became ill, and before he died four physicians had been called in. The last physician called asked if arsenic was not kept about the house, contending that the man had died from poisoning. The other physicians did not agree with him.

The body of Dixon was buried without a post-mortem examination. Several days ago the neighbors began to discuss the matter, and some of them, it is alleged connected the name of Mrs. Dixon with the death of her husband. The talk reached the ears of the County Board of Health of Perry county, and last Friday, Dr. Bennett, the secretary of the board, and Dr. T. Leads of Cannelton, went to Adaverville and exhumed the body.

The stomach and contents were removed, and after being closely examined by a chemist of Cannelton were sent to Indianapolis for further examination.

The indictment was returned by the grand jury late Saturday afternoon. The officials have been trying to keep the matter quiet until the return of the Circuit Judge from Corydon.

Dixon and his wife were married about four years ago. She was his second wife, he having raised a large family by his first wife. His present widow is young and pretty, and was the wife of Dixon's nephew. Shortly after her husband's death she was married to Dixon. Dixon was a well-to-do farmer.

One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It is infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by Frank D. Hall drug-gist. ## JEWS SLAUGHTERED

And Their Bodies Torn to Pieces in the Anti-Semitic Riots--The Dead Number One Hundred and Twenty People.

New York, April 28--The Jewish Daily News, published the following cable dispatch in reference to the anti-Jewish riots in Kishinev, Russia, dated at St. Petersburg, April 25, and taken across the border for transmission in order to escape the censor.

"The anti-Jewish riots in Kishinev, Besarabia, are worse than the censor will permit to publish. There was a well laid out plan for the general massacre of Jews on the day following the Russian Easter. The mob was led by priests and the cry 'Kill the Jews!' was taken up all over the city.

"The Jews were taken totally unaware and were slaughtered like sheep. The dead number 120 and the injured about 500. The scenes of horror attending this massacre are beyond description. Babies were literally torn to pieces by the frenzied and blood-thirsty mob.

"The local police made no attempt to check the reign of terror. At sunset the streets were piled with dead and wounded. Those who could make their escape fled in terror and the city is now practically deserted by the Jews.

"Just as in the riots of 1880-1881 there is a popular belief among the Russian peasants that the Czar decreed the slaughter of Jews.

"The immediate cause of the riot, however, is the ritual murder accusation against the Jews in Dubosary, Government of Khedson.

"Immediate relief is wanted."

NOT SATISFIED

With Mr. Tyner's Explanation of the Safe Incident--The Grand Jury Will be Asked Investigate the Case.

Washington, D. C., April 28--An important stage in the Tyner case of last week has been reached. The Postmaster General announced at the close of business that the case would go to the grand jury for further investigation. This signifies that Mr. Tyner is not satisfied with the explanation offered on behalf of former Assistant Attorney-General Tyner that no harm was intended when the safe in the latter's office was opened and its contents abstracted. It indicates further that the Postmaster General believes that the documents which were shown him by counsel for the Tyner were not all that were taken from the safe last Tuesday afternoon, and that he is firm in the suspicion that papers containing evidence of irregularities were disposed of.

Before Mr. Tyner decided to have the case go to the grand jury he had a conference with Attorney-General Knox, and the two officials came to the conclusion that that was the best and proper course to pursue. Therefore all the evidence thus far accumulated by the Postmaster General will be submitted to the United States District Attorney, with instructions to lay it before the grand jury. It will devolve upon that body to determine whether or not there is ground for indicting the persons who took part in or were implicated in the rifling of the postoffice safe.

Postmaster-General Payne granted to Mr. Christy an indefinite leave of absence. The charge recently formulated by the Central Labor Union of this city against the Mail Equipment Bureau have been filed.

Postmaster-General Payne forwarded to Attorney-General Knox additional information regarding the abstraction of papers last Tuesday. He says:

"I am unable to conclude that no other papers were taken than those submitted and returned.

"Inasmuch as it clearly appears that certain papers of the Government were taken, and since, in my opinion, all of the facts presented tend to show a willful violation of law, I recommend that the matter be referred to the United States Attorney for this district, with instructions to submit the case to the grand jury, as we decided in our recent interview. Respectfully yours,"

"H. C. Payne, Postmaster-General."

Newark Girl Secretly Married Asks for Legal Separation from Youthful Husband.

The above recital was given the Advocate late this afternoon, and is the only statement authorized by Mrs. Cherington and her daughter, who is still called Miss May Cherington.

Other reporters called at the Cherington flats, but were all met with a courteous but emphatic refusal to discuss the case, as the Advocate had been furnished with the only statement they cared to make.

COURT

Knocks Out the Curative Law Passed Last Fall.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 28--The Superior court judges today knocked out the curative law which was included in the municipal code law, passed by the last special session of the legislature in an effort to save the 50 year franchises granted to the Cincinnati street railway company under the Rogers law in 1896. The court also knocked out the one year statute of limitations for suits to test public franchises and contracts. This was also part of the municipal code law. They hold that both the curative law and statute of limitations are unconstitutional. The decision affects every street car line in Cincinnati.

FREE

Is Newark from All Contagious Diseases--Dr. Day, Health Officer, Makes Statement.

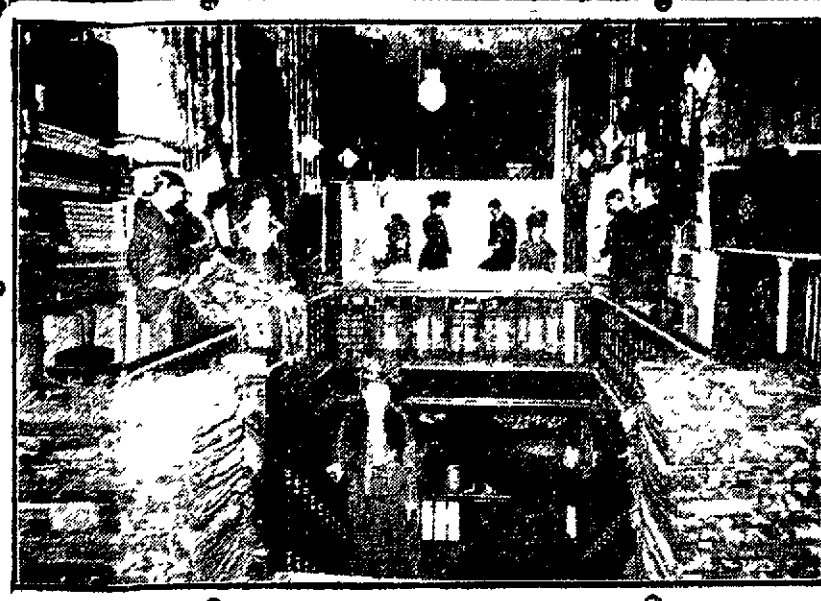

The Advocate is glad to announce on the authority of Dr. Day, Health Officer that Newark is now free from all epidemics. There is not a card up in the city now for smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever or any other contagious disease. The last two cases of smallpox have recovered and have been discharged. Dr. Day says that this condition of things is due in a large measure to the excellent sanitary condition of the city, and that it only remains for the citizens to keep the city clean, in order to have one of the healthiest cities in the state.

FOREIGN DIPLOMATS

Can't Go to St. Louis Because the Venezuela Case is Still Open.

Washington, April 28--Great Britain has withdrawn her contention for a submission of the question of the cost of the blockade to the Hague tribunal and Venezuela in turn is willing that the scope of the arbitration be increased. Venezuela will gladly welcome not only the submission of the question of preferential treatment to the Hague, but also the right of nations to collect debts by blockades and bombardments.

Instructions arrived from Berlin relative to the wording of certain articles in the protocol, and as all of the negotiators are anxious that the agreement be signed without delay, neither Sir Michael Herbert, the British ambassador, nor Baron von Sternberg, the German minister, will be able to accompany their colleagues to the dedicatory exercises of the Louisiana Exposition at St. Louis. Moreover Sir Michael's health will not permit him to leave Washington at this time. Mr. Arthur Raikes, first secretary, will go as his personal representative, and Baron Von De Busche Haddenhausen, first secretary of the German embassy will go in that capacity for Baron von Sternberg.
